"What we found was the first reaction to the new drapery was the visual beauty of the product which spans the length of one wall in our main boardroom. What was felt is the part that came after. People were not straining to be heard in the room which became quieter with out the reverberation from the window walls surrounding the room. The noise level is more comfortable and this has made presentations and meetings much more enjoyable and understandable both to the eye the ear."

- David Law, VP of Sales
